Pinot Blanc	Adelaide Hills

Nose

White blossoms, mineral spice and gooseberry.

Palate

Lean and tight, it builds subtle generosity through the middle that gets sucked back in to flow into the bright acid line through the finish.

Pair

Scallops in butter or delicious grilled asparagus spears.

Winemaking

Picked in the cool morning. Gently pressed to stainless. Fermented at cool temperatures. Racked off lees early. Matured in stainless. No MLF.

Vineyard

Paracombe Vineyards, Paracombe. Unknown Clone planted on own roots. 410m-420m elevation, Southerly aspect. Loam with ironstone gravel over quartz. VSP Spur pruned with foliage wires.

"Here's a variety that I fell in love with during my stint making alcohol in Germany. Pinot Blanc (or Weissburgunder as they call it there is super interesting because it's got crazy acidity like a good Riesling, yet has an innate textural component to it that compliments the tartness in a complexing way that I just adore. The cooler conditions of 2022 played into this, with plenty of time to develop subtle flavour components threaded through the playful palate elements. Your ultimate thirst quencher!"
